Barbara Jean Moore Harris was born on July 10, 1932 in Bastrop County, Texas. She was the 11th child of the late Sammie E. and Alsada Moore. She grew up in the Utley Community and completed school there.

She accepted Christ at an early age and united with the Union Hill Missionary Baptist Church before moving to California. When she returned to Texas, she reunited with Union Hill Missionary Baptist Church.

She was a member of the Adult choir until her health began to decline. She worked hard to provide for her family. She started working in the nursing field, and then she worked as a barber in California.

She shared her professional skills and served as a personal barber for a select number of the San Francisco 49ers. Upon her return to Texas, she was the family barber. Her final employment was with the Texas General Land office until she retired.

Barbara loved to travel with her sisters and brothers-in-law on their yearly trip to the Coast. She loved her children, grandchildren, great grandchildren, and great-great grandchildren. She also loved her extended family.

Barbara was preceded in death by her parents, Sammie E. and Alsada Moore; one daughter, Deborah Earls; six sisters, Juanita Arnold, Larcely Taylor, Lillie Collins, Bernice Adams, Thelma Black, and Mildred Bell; four brothers, Sammie E. Moore, Jr., Eugene Moore, Sr., Marion Moore, Sr., and Howard Moore.

She leaves to cherish precious memories; one son Elroy Earls, Jr. and three daughters; Carolyn "Carol" Carter, Barbara Denise (Charles) Aki and Helen (Earl) Alexander; one son in love, "Kiki" Millett; fourteen grandchildren; thirty-two great grandchildren and nine great-great grandchildren.
