“ Rest in peace to one of the most caring, kind, gentle men I know. He was a good father, a great provider, a definite shoulder to lean on & a huge optimistic soul. You always use to call me an angel but now he’s one himself. You will be truly missed and never ever forgotten ❤️👍

hi maam what happen to Edgar, he died of what causes .

Clayton Cliff - May 05 at 02:06 PM

“ Rest in peace, Edgar! You are a gentle giant, loving, father, and great friend. not much of a joker, but you were always making jokes, even though we were both laughing at ourselves. I know you're up there in heaven with gizmo playing with little stupid is what you called him . Gone too soon and never forgotten. I have memories that will forever carry with me. Rest in peace.

“ My sincere condolences to Poncho's family, especially Elyse and Tre. Praying for God's favor to give you strength during this difficult time.

I assisted Poncho with his acquisition of space for his dream club - Club Illusion. He was more than a client; he was a cherished friend and unofficial son (often calling me mama). Although we lost touch when he moved from Austin, he called me last year just to see how I was doing. He lived and enjoyed life and shared his blessings with many. I will always have warm memories of his respect for his elders and his kindness. This "gentle giant" is now at rest.

God Bless!

“ Sending my warmest regards and much love to you, Alyse and Tre. He loved y'all so much. And you know it. Everything he did was for you two. This hurt never goes away. But I know everything that you do in life makes him proud, even still. All my love. ~Cyndi Gray-Gordon
