Garrett Gamond, 23, was shot and killed at home on March 25th. He was born in Austin, TX on May 4, 1997 to Stacey Gamond (Taylor) and raised in the same house, attended the same schools and ran through the same neighborhood as his mother, her siblings and his younger brother.

Garrett was a lost soul who often traveled down the wrong path but had recently started working on turning his life around. He enjoyed making music beats and was a Rapper in the local Austin music scene. At the time of his death he had been working on receiving his GED.

Garrett was preceded in death by his Brother Dylan Hill and his Grandmother Peggy Gamond; he is survived by his mother Stacey Taylor, and younger Brother Warrick Gamond. He leaves behind to cherish his memories; his Grandfather Richard Gamond as well as Uncles, Aunts, Cousins and longtime Friends.

“ Aaron had a hard time making friends when we first moved to Austin. Garrett was his first friend and didn't let anyone bully him. Aaron called me when he found out about his passing and took it pretty of hard. He was sad they had drifted apart and wished he would have been there for him. Little did I know almost a year later 03/20/22 Aaron would pass away as well. He was Aaron's first friend in elementary school and I have no doubt he was his first friend in heaven. ❤️

“ I love you brother we had the best of times and I miss them more than anything but we will meet again but for now fly as high as you’ve ever been and live as free in death as you did in love until we meet again

“ I never thought I would be saying goodbye to you Garrett, I love you forever. My mom took this photo, it’s the first time you met my family, I remember how excited you were. I will always be grateful for the memories we made together.

“ This is the last picture I have with my son. At first it made me sad that I didn't have more pictures with him but someone very close to me said, “That's because you have an ACTUAL relationship with him.” That was the truth - we didn't waste time stopping a moment to take pictures - those moments will be what I cherish the most as I remember my son.
