“ Bro George Edward Wallace will be missed. When I was younger, he was a Chief and people would brag on his cooking. I also new George to be a singer. He loved to sing those ole Gospel tunes. I remember the smile he had last time I saw him. I always new him as a worker. He wasn't a lazy man at all. He will be missed by all that knew him.

My condolences to the Wallace family, Debra, Pastor Chris, all the grandkids, cousin and church family. My name is Paula Watrous, I am a first cousin to bro George Wallace. Bro George was a Chief back in the day. He was the best cook. He had the best singing voice. You will be missed. We celebrate your life.

George Wallace was a Chef not Chief, but at some point he probably taught other young men and women how to cook in the kitchen. His momma Irene Jones was a good cook too as well!

“ My prayers are with you, family, as we say “see you later” to our loved one. Cousin George, I’ll always remember the days when I’d visit you, cousin Amy, and your girls (Debra and Treniece) when we were young, or when you’d bring them to visit me. Your smile is unforgettable, and seems like I remember you loving to cook. You had a blessed life! Rest well. Until we meet again, cousin. ❤️🙏— Ann
