

Marsha Yvette Favors

November 5, 1960 - February 4, 2026

Obituary

On November 5th 1960; a beautiful baby girl was born named Marsha Yvette Reynolds was born to Ellis Leon Reynolds and Clara Beth Reynolds at Chelsea Naval Hospital in Chelsea, Massachusetts. She attended public schools in Austin and graduated from David Crockett High School, earning not only her diploma but also a cosmetology license.

Marsha did not stop there. Later in life, she earned her Licensed Vocational Nurse (LVN) license and pursued business studies, always striving to better herself.

At a very early age, Marsha confessed her love for and faith in Christ. She knew her Bible from front to back. If you ever had a question about scripture, all you had to do was ask Marsha. Her Bible looked like a college textbook—filled with notes, highlights, and reflections—evidence of a life grounded in faith and study. Although Marsha followed several career paths throughout her life, the one that brought her the most joy was nursing. And not just any nursing—Marsha was known for taking on the hardest assignments.

None was more challenging than her work as a nurse at Austin State Hospital (ASH). She was so skilled and trusted that physicians often asked her to assist with and participate in tasks beyond the typical scope of practice for an LVN. They had complete confidence in her abilities, and she consistently exceeded expectations.

Marsha united in holy matrimony with Jerry Lemond Favors in 1991 and remained devoted to him even after his passing. From that union, Marsha had two children, Jerree Lemonda Favors and Ciara Yvette Favors. Prior to that union, Marsha had one child, Lucas Alan Reynolds. With her husband, son, and daughters, Marsha's life was full of family, love, and joy.

Marsha was preceded in death by her husband, Jerry Lemond Favors; her daughter, Jerree Lemonda Favors; her parents, Ellis and Clara Reynolds; and her in-laws, L.C. Favors and Johnny Mae Favors.

She leaves behind to mourn her loss her son, Lucas Alan Reynolds (Elizabeth) her daughter, Ciara Yvette Favors; her brothers, Harold Reynolds (Virginia), Keith Reynolds, and Paul Reynolds (Laura); and her brother-in-law, Addison Jerome Favors. She also leaves behind grandchildren, aunts, nephews, nieces, cousins, and a host of relatives and friends.

One of Marsha's fondest memories was being able to spend time with Jerree Samaria Reynolds ("backscratcher/Tinkie-Winkie). There are many people Marsha treated like her own children—and proudly called them so. Her love extended far beyond her immediate family, and her legacy lives on in all the lives she touched.

“ Auntie 😞 I don't even know where to begin because my heart is shattered. I keep reaching for my phone like I'm about to FaceTime you. I keep expecting to hear you call me “Tyson” the way only you could. That name sounded different coming from you softer, full of love, full of pride. Now the silence where your voice used to be feels so loud.

We talked almost every single day. You were part of my routine, part of my comfort, part of my peace. No matter what was going on in my life, I knew I could call you. And if I didn't call you, you were calling me. Those FaceTime conversations weren't just calls they were therapy, laughter, wisdom, and love all wrapped into one.

You poured so much into me. Your advice, your honesty, your strength you spoke life into me when I didn't even realize I needed it. You reminded me who I was. You prayed for me. You encouraged me. You loved me without conditions.

I don't know how to accept that I won't see your name light up my phone again. I don't know how to stop missing you already. But what I do know is that I will carry you with me in everything I do. Your voice is planted in my heart. Your wisdom lives in my mind. Your love is woven into who I am.

Thank you for every “Tyson.”
Thank you for every FaceTime.
Thank you for every laugh, every talk, every moment.

I wasn't ready to let you go. I don't think I ever would have been.

I love you beyond this life. And I will miss you for the rest of mine. □

Auntie your memories will always be with me. You brought me my first pair of high heels, you gave me my name the Grand Madame. You were a special person in my life from a little girl to me being a woman. I will always cherish our relationship. Love you Auntie.
