“ I met Nettie in 1977 when I started teaching at Twelfth Street School in Taylor. She was a wonderful mentor and a steadfast and loyal friend. We shared many laughs and sorrows over the years and I'm so thankful to have had her in my life.

“ This queen departed Taylor in a grand processional today. Taylor PD did an awesome job of barring every exit on the loop and cars, carrying people that may never know her name, stopped in respect because they knew SOMEBODY was laid to rest this day. I know she was there because I witnessed the miracle of her presence. I will miss you so much!!! I will miss our talks and your 'way with words' that none can match. You poured into me for 5 decades plus and I promise to keep making you proud. Rest now Mrs. Nettie D. Robertson. You were so loved! Lorraine Hood-Jack

“ To be perfectly honest, I'm not sure if it was fear or admiration but definitely respect for you. Thank You for teaching me all you did about so much more than just Where The Red Fern Grows... laughing at sending those boys to find the dog that wondered into the building then ran out with several boys on its tail. You were so much more than just my teacher. The last time I saw you at Walmart and you remembered me by name. You were a legend in your own time and I'm so blessed to have known you much less were taught by you. So Thanks again!

“Mrs Robertson I know you never forgot me, because you always had a reminder. In the 4th grade, we had a test on the United States map. We had to fill in the state's name on the map. I couldn't remember all of them and my mother happened to have a handkerchief of the United States. I took it to school and pretended it was so hot. I would wipe my face and look at the map. Finally you came by and asked to see the handkerchief. You showed it to the class and we had a big laugh. You kept it and everytime I saw you at the store or hair salon, you would say you still had it and did I want it back. To this day, I'm still embarrassed. You will be truly missed
