

Rochelle Hilliard

May 8, 1965 - July 15, 2016

Rochelle Louise was born to Diane Hilliard and Glen Addison on May 8, 1965. Rochelle attended St. Austin's Catholic School and LBJ High School in Austin, Texas.

She is preceded in death by her mother Diane Hilliard, Grandmothers Katheryn Hilliard, Rose B. Addison, brother Zachary Hilliard, sister Amber Hilliard, aunts Katheryn Traylor and Sylvia Williams, uncle Dave Hilliard, great aunt Beatrice Goodrich and great uncle James Barrow.

As a child Rochelle was raised in a house full of girls that included aunts and cousins who considered themselves all sisters. Even though her aunt Shaunder was the older of the two, she thought she was the boss. To know Rochelle you had to love her, she was always the same and would tell you just the way it was. She loved family, her children, grandchildren and her many friends.

Rochelle's, Christian journey began at an early age. Her father, Pastor Glen Addison would come and pick her up every Sunday along with her aunts and cousins, making sure they were attending church. She knew the Lord and was always encouraging her children to find a church home and to raise their children in the church. Everyone knew that she loved to clean, she just would not but that broom down, and she would even sweep the carpet. She had an appetite that was equal to twelve men and never gained a pound. If you had a secret you better not tell Rochelle because she could not hold water.

“ I don't know why I was thinking about her after all these years. But I just found this on the web and was heartbroken. We used to date back in the 80's. My condolences to the family.
