

Shanice Elizabeth McKissick

June 16, 1994 - November 20, 2025

Livestream Link: <https://vimeo.com/event/5563396>

Shanice E. McKissick, born on June 16, 1994, in Austin, Texas, embodied kindness, determination, and a radiant spirit from her earliest days. Her strength and elegance shone through every endeavor she pursued. She leaves behind two beloved daughters, Zipporah Juanita McKissick and Zi'Niyha Lovley McKissick, who will continue to carry her light forward. A gifted vocalist, Shanice shared her remarkable talent through countless performances and contributed her artistry as a member of both the Shining Stars and the SoulTree Collective. Her dedication was honored with the Key to the City of Austin, and she further enriched audiences with her performances alongside the Women of Jazz.

“ I’m so sorry for the loss of your baby sister.
May God wrap your family in comfort and give you peace during this difficult time.
May the winds of love blow softly, and deep within my heart your life will always be kept—loved, cherished, and never forgotten.
There will be no more tomorrows to share, but I will forever carry you in my heart, my sweet baby sister.

“ Baby girl... you grew up with my daughter Brianna you were the same age and y'all used to hang out. We were all in children's church together at One Way. You were the star of the show when you sung so beautiful to hear you. We will never forget you. I will be there for your mom and aunt as they go through this grieving process. We love you and will miss you.

“ With heartfelt sympathy, My deepest condolences go out to you, Nessie, Keith, and the entire McKissick family during this time of unimaginable loss. Shanice's beautiful spirit, her gift of song, and her love for her family touched so many lives. Though her time here was far too short, the light she carried will continue to shine through her precious children and in every memory that lives in our hearts. May God's comfort surround you, may His strength uphold you, and may His peace gently carry you through each difficult moment. You are deeply loved, lifted in prayer, and held close in spirit. With love and prayers,
