

Travis Barlow

February 19, 1963 - January 27, 2023

Ecclesiastes 3, to everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven. A time to be born, Travis O'Harold Barlow, born February 19, 1963 and a time to die, departed, January 27, 2023. In 1963 there came a time when Travis was planted and in 2023 a time to pluck up that which was planted.

Travis attended Sidney Lanier High School, Austin, Texas where he played football. After high school he joined the US Army and served. There was a time when during Travis' childhood that he was planted with The Word of God. He accepted Christ at an early age during his life. Travis was active in the church because in "Our House," we were going to serve the Lord. In his searching he decided he was going to sing in the choir and remembering one of his songs that he lead was "God Is.", After that he decided to attempt to play the bass guitar. Even during his tribulant days, like Solomon, Travis had a vital connection with God of Heaven.

However, when others would see the worst in him, God saw the best in him. Travis had a previous marriage to Laurie Ann Deshay who remained a close friend in heart. Travis was a man with a big heart. There will be a gap left by Travis, for he was greatly loved by many.

Travis is proceeded in death by his father, Henry Barlow Sr. Travis leaves to cherish memories, his mother, Lee Ester Barlow of Bastrop, Texas. One son, Travis O'Harold Dawson. Two grandkids: Evelyn Mylene Saenz-Dawson and Keyarah Hallie Saenz-Dawson both of Austin, Texas. Two brothers: Hendry

Barlow Jr. of Austin and Andre Eugene Barlow of Bastrop, Texas. One sister, Ivory Florette Perkins (Mike) of Bastrop, Texas. A host of aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews, relatives and friends.
